SEQUENCE DIAGRAMS

HELLO USER,

Welcome to our application "ERD/UML GENERATOR" help file. We are here to help you for drawing the UML diagrams with the help of the tools provided by our application easily.

Below information tell you the significance, meaning and the structure of each tool provided by us in our application.

Here are some symbols used for drawing the "SEQUENCE DIAGRAMS". please take a look : -

1. THE RECTANGLE:

    The rectangle represents the object in sequence diagram. It is denoted by,

    OBJECT

2. THE VERTICAL RECTANGLE:

    The vertical rectangle represents the activation state in sequence diagram. It is denoted by,

3. THE DOTTED LINE:

The dotted line represents the deactivation state in sequence diagram. It is denoted by,

4. THE LINE WITH AN ARROW:

The line with an arrow in sequence diagram is represents the messages sent from one object to another. It is denoted as,

5. THE DOTTED LINE WITH AN ARROW:

The dotted line with an arrow in a sequence diagram is represents the dependency. It is denoted as,

That's it!!
Now read the problem given on sequence diagram carefully and try to draw the sequence diagram with the provided (above) tools in our application.

If any doubt, visit the help file again!!

THANK YOU USER!!